PLAN FOR PROVIDING EDUCATIONAL SERVICES TO ALL EXPELLED STUDENTS IN SONOMA COUNTY

Introduction

California Education Code Section 48926 states “each county superintendent of schools in counties that operate community schools pursuant to Section 1980, in conjunction with superintendents of school districts within the county, shall develop a plan for providing education services to all expelled pupils in that county.”

The 31 elementary school districts, three high school districts and six unified school districts of Sonoma County provide services to 72,200 students at 174 school sites. Sonoma County recognized the need for a continuum of educational services for all students, including expelled students, long before the 1995 legislation mandated educational placements for expelled students. This Plan for Providing Educational Services to All Expelled Students in Sonoma County provides the description of the part of that continuum of services that relates directly to expelled students.

California Education Code Section 48916.1 states “At the time an expulsion of a pupil is ordered, the governing board of the school district shall ensure that an educational program is provided to the pupil who is subject to the expulsion order for the period of the expulsion . . .” Every Sonoma County school district governing board will refer each expelled student to an appropriate educational placement for the period of expulsion. The educational placement will be determined on an individual basis by the school district’s governing board based upon 1) seriousness of offense, 2) available educational alternatives, and 3) other related factors. County level alternatives for expelled students will remain available to all expelled students, grades 7-12. District level alternatives for expelled students will vary from one district to the next, depending on the characteristics of that district.

In 1996-97, the county plan format was developed by a committee established by the School and Community Services Department of the Sonoma County Office of Education. In accordance with that format, each district developed a sub-plan specific to that district. Each sub-plan and the county plan included 1) a list of existing educational alternatives for expelled students, 2) gaps in educational services to expelled students,

3) strategies for filling those gaps, and 4) alternative placements for students who fail community day school placements.

During the 1999-2000 and 2002-2003 school years, and again during the 2005-2006 school year, the county plan was reviewed and revised by a committee established by the Youth Development, Support, and Leadership Department (formerly known as the School and Community Services Department). To assist this task, a questionnaire was sent to each district (Appendix A.). Districts were asked to (1) confirm district-level educational alternatives, (2) indicate any intention to offer a community day school, (3) identify any gaps limiting their ability to provide education services to expelled students from their district, and (4) offer suggestions or strategies for filling those gaps.

Educational Alternatives Provided by Local School Districts

All educational alternatives provided by California's school districts are not available to all expelled students and most are not available to any expelled students. Seriousness of offense, location of offense and grade level of the student all have the potential to restrict the district level educational alternatives available to the student during the period of expulsion. Students expelled for any of the offenses listed in subdivision (a) or (c) of Section 48915 of the California Education Code shall not be permitted to enroll in any district operated program during the period of the expulsion unless it is a community day school [E.C. § 48915.2 (a)]. All expelled students shall be referred to an educational placement that is 1) not provided at a comprehensive middle, junior or senior high school or any elementary school [E.C. § 48915 (d) (2)], unless that placement is a community day school and, under certain conditions, waived by state board action (E.C. § 48661), and 2) not housed at the school site attended by the student at the time of the offense [E.C. § 48915 (d) (3)]. If the expelled student is in grades K–6, the educational placement for the student shall not be merged or combined with educational programs offered to students in grades 7–12, unless that placement is a community day school (E.C. § 48916.1). In addition to the above listed requirements, such factors as district size, district level alternatives, county level alternatives and district philosophy can impact the determination by a district board of education of what educational alternatives are appropriate for the students who are expelled.

County-operated community schools will continue to be the appropriate placement for all expelled students, grades 7-12, who fail district level educational alternatives, who have been expelled for E.C. § 48915 (a) or (c) offenses, or who pose a danger to other district students, as determined by the governing board. Districts operating community day schools will serve students who have been expelled for E.C. § 48915 (a) or (c) offenses unless there exists an agreement with SCOE to serve those students.

The following is a summary of educational alternatives available for expelled students for each school district.

Sonoma County Office of Education Alternatives for Expelled Students

The Sonoma County Office of Education offers educational alternatives to expelled students primarily through its court and community schools. Court schools require the formal placement of students into the program by the juvenile court or its probation/parole department representatives. These programs can be either residential or non-residential and expulsion status of a student has no negative impact on eligibility or placement. Community schools require referral from the school district of residence and provide services to students, grades 7-12, in accordance with California Education Code Sections 1981(a) and 1981(c). Expulsion status of a student has no negative impact on eligibility or placement of a student in community schools, but may be used for Section 1981 classification purposes. Districts referring students to community schools must comply with established County Office referral requirements and procedures (Appendix D.). The County Office Cal-SAFE (California School-Age Families Education) Program may be offered as an alternative to expelled students on a case-by-case basis and in accordance with program regulations. As an option within the community schools and the Cal-SAFE Program, an independent study instructional strategy may be offered on a case-by-case basis as appropriate. These county level educational alternatives will be available to Sonoma County students who have been expelled from district programs when the district board of education determines they are the most appropriate placement.

The following is a list of educational alternatives offered by the Sonoma County Office of Education. Descriptions of the programs may be found in Appendix B.

Community Day Schools

AB 922 authorized school districts to establish community day schools as an educational option for expelled or other at-risk students (E.C. § 48660 – 48664). AB 1845 extended that authority to county offices of education [E.C. § 48667 (a)]. The students assigned to community day schools are those who have been expelled for any reason, referred by Probation pursuant to W.I.C. § 300 or 602, or referred by a SARB or other district-level referral process. Students are assigned to community day schools in the following priority order: (1) students expelled for mandatory expulsion offenses [E.C. § 48915 (d)]; (2) students expelled for any other reasons; (3) all other reasons.

There are currently seven community day schools being operated in Sonoma County:

Memorandum of Understanding Between School Districts and the Sonoma County Office of Education Regarding the Establishment of Community Day Schools

To ensure maximization of efforts and full utilization of resources, local school districts wishing to establish and operate their own community day schools to serve expelled and high risk students agree to notify, in writing, the Sonoma County Office of Education no later than December 31 of a year prior to the opening of a community day school program by July 1 of the succeeding new year. A Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) will be established between the school district and the County Office (Appendix C.). The MOU will serve as a formal notice of operating a community day school and will specify the roles and responsibilities of the parties to serve the district's students.

Alternative Placements for Students Who Fail Community Day School Placements

The community school program operated by the Sonoma County Office of Education maintains a standing policy of accepting all students, grades 7–12, who have been expelled from their district of residence and who have exhausted the alternatives offered by the district. If an initial placement is made to a district-operated community day school and the student commits an expulsion offense or fails the program, the district's governing board shall review the plan of rehabilitation that was established at the time of expulsion and make adjustments necessary. If there is no educational alternative available in the district, the student, grade 7-12, may be referred to the county community school program.

Educational Services Provided to Expelled Students with Exceptional Needs

Consistent with state and federal law, students with exceptional needs may be expelled. Students, grades 7-12, may be referred by a school district's IEP team for placement in a Sonoma County Office of Education community school program, provided that:

1. district alternatives have been exhausted;
2. the requirements of E.C. § 48915.5 have been met;
3. a County Office community school program representative has participated in an IEP meeting for change of placement; and
4. the district has complied with established County Office referral, documentation, and certification requirements and procedures.

If the IEP team determines that a county community school program is an appropriate placement, the County Office will ensure that all specified services are provided.

The district and the Sonoma County Office of Education shall be jointly responsible to ensure that requirements for services, assessment, timelines and due process are met as established in both federal and state law and SELPA guidelines.

Gaps In Educational Services to Expelled Students and Strategies for Filling Those Gaps

Results From 2003 Update

1. The average district enrollment in Sonoma County is approximately one third the state average. This smaller district size, together with the rural characteristics of the county, make it difficult to offer the range of alternatives often found in the larger urban districts. The strategy for addressing this problem is to maintain a county community school program that is committed to providing educational services to all school districts in the county and that employs a variety of instructional strategies, including those that are capable of overcoming obstacles associated with providing educational services to rural, often isolated, settings.

Result: Successful

2. Students who commit an expulsion offense during an expulsion period may have limited alternatives that remain available for secondary placement. The strategy for addressing this problem is to maintain a commitment to providing educational services to students, regardless of repeated offenses. These services may be in locations where the distance factor becomes a serious obstacle, but an educational alternative will exist if the necessary commitment exists with student and parent. Result: Successful

3. Students who are in grades K–6 who are expelled do not have the same educational options available as do their grades 7–12 counterparts. Students in grades K-6 are also expelled at a much lower rate than students in grades 7–12. These two factors, together with the requirement that educational services for students in grades K–6 can not be merged or combined with services to students in grades 7–12 make it very difficult to identify an educational placement for the expelled student who is in grade K–6. The strategies for addressing this problem are: (a) districts developing a range of educational placement options, including community day school, (b) districts forming a consortium to operate a community day school, and (c) districts and the County Office developing a jointly-operated program. Results: (a) Successful; (b) (c) Not implemented as need was not sufficient

4. Students with exceptional needs served in special day class settings who are expelled have limited placement options available. The strategies for addressing this problem are: (a) districts developing protocols for sharing expelled students with Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) among each other and (b) the County Office building its capacity to serve students with greater needs through alternative student grouping, co-location of classes, and staff re-assignment. Results: Successful; Additional strategy: Santa Rosa City Schools established a special day class for expelled students with exceptional need. Result: Successful

5. There is often a lengthy period of time between a student's suspension pending expulsion and placement in a County Office community school program. Students are not receiving educational services and parents are unhappy. The strategy for addressing this problem is to schedule community school intake meetings prior to the governing board taking action to expel. Result: Not implemented as students were not allowed to enroll in the County Office community school program during the suspension period and some students were ultimately not expelled

6. Some students need additional assistance with English language development, vocational education, and dealing with personal/ social issues, all of which can exceed revenue received or staff ability to manage. Strategies for addressing these issues are: (a) hiring bilingual staff and/or training staff to work with English language learners, (b) seeking Workability and other funds to support vocational education; (c) developing a vocational charter school jointly operated by districts and/or the County Office, (d) seeking funding and/or agency partnerships to provide counseling. Results: (a) Successful – both elements were implemented; (b) Not implemented as funding unavailable; (c) Not implemented as a vocational charter school was established by a local school district; (d) Successful – counseling provided by a local agency; Additional strategies: County Office strengthened its core curriculum and focused professional development on meeting the needs of English learners and imbedding personal/social skill development into the curriculum. Results: Successful

2006 Update

1. In many cases, there continues to be a lengthy period of time between a student's suspension, which is often extended pending expulsion, and placement in an educational alternative. The County Office does not enroll students prior to district governing board action to expel. Students are not receiving educational services and districts are not receiving needed revenue. The strategies for addressing this issue are for districts to (a) review their policies and criteria for extending suspension, (b) explore possible alternatives (e.g., independent study, involuntary transfer to another campus, etc.), (c) review and shorten, if practical, the timelines between suspension and the expulsion hearing and/or the hearing and governing board action, and (d) consider implementing stipulated expulsion procedures.
2. Over the past three years, an increasing number of expelled students have been served within their districts. As a result, the expelled students being referred to the County Office bring greater educational, behavioral and attendance challenges. The strategies for addressing this issue are for the County Office to (a) implement student success contracts, (b) transfer students to alternative classrooms, if practical, (c) offer an Independent Study option, if appropriate, (d) provide mentoring and community service opportunities through the Volunteer Center of Sonoma County, and (e) facilitate enrollment in other local community programs for at-risk youth.
3. Some expelled students who have been referred to the County Office community school programs fail to enroll. Strategies for addressing this issue are for the County Office to (a) schedule intake/enrollment meetings as soon as possible after governing board action, (b) reschedule the meetings and notify students and parents two additional times, and (c) notify and work closely with districts to implement truancy procedures if students fail to enroll.
4. While not a gap, there is concern that Sonoma County expels students at a rate greater than the statewide average. The strategies for addressing this issue are (a) for districts to develop strategies to address educational, social and behavioral issues early on (e.g., student study teams, behavior plans, truancy prevention, counseling, anger management programs, parent education, substance abuse programs, case management systems, school wide behavior management programs, etc.), (b) for districts to ensure that school sites implement and document such strategies prior to recommending expulsion, and (c) for districts and County Office staff to (c) research and share successful alternatives to expulsion.

Articulation and Coordination Between Districts and the Sonoma County Office of Education

To ensure that there is ongoing articulation and coordination with the school districts, the County Office:

1. Annually updates, disseminates and posts on its website a referral handbook and forms,
2. Convenes quarterly meetings of district and County Office alternative education administrators,
3. Provides regular consultation to districts through the Referral Technician,
4. Conducts return-to-district student transition meetings,
5. Arranges district visits to community school sites,
6. Meets with large school district staff twice a year, and
7. Reports to district governing boards, as requested
